

General Convention Is Coming To Columbus

How do I answer questions?

The Episcopal Church is going to be in the news during General Convention. This means that you might get questions from friends and neighbors. This can be an opportunity to talk about the Church.

- Think about the reasons why you are an Episcopalian and be prepared to talk about those when someone asks you a question.
- The Episcopal Church values the individual conscience and gives every member a great deal of freedom to form their own opinions while still being a part of the Church. It is one of our greatest strengths, but hard to understand when people ask: “Why do Episcopalians believe ...?” Explaining that we don’t require everyone to have the same position on issues may help.
- Our congregations are doing wonderful ministry. We have food pantries and tutoring programs, Bible studies and youth events. Be ready to invite people to come and check out the ministry and programs in your congregation.

General Convention Is Coming To Columbus

How do I answer questions?

The Episcopal Church is going to be in the news during General Convention. This means that you might get questions from friends and neighbors. This can be an opportunity to talk about the Church.

- Think about the reasons why you are an Episcopalian and be prepared to talk about those when someone asks you a question.
- The Episcopal Church values the individual conscience and gives every member a great deal of freedom to form their own opinions while still being a part of the Church. It is one of our greatest strengths, but hard to understand when people ask: “Why do Episcopalians believe ...?” Explaining that we don’t require everyone to have the same position on issues may help.
- Our congregations are doing wonderful ministry. We have food pantries and tutoring programs, Bible studies and youth events. Be ready to invite people to come and check out the ministry and programs in your congregation.

